VOLUME XXII.

R. L. Polk & Co., Publishers,

33 BASS BLOCK, FORT WAYNE.

Entered according to Act of Congress, in the year 1900, by R. L. Polk & Co., in the office of the Librarian of Congress, at Washington, D. C.

INTRODUCTORY.

Fresh and unsoiled we place in the hands of our patrons the Fort Wayne City Directory for 1900, while the volume of 1899, bearing marks of much usage, will be thrown aside as a thing that has had its day.

There is probably no better medium than the Directory for showing the advance of the city from year to year in population, in improvement both public and private and in business. We believe that the increase of population for the year ending April 30th, 1900, which is based upon the number of names contained in the Directory is a fairly correct index to Fort Wayne's progress and development. In this issue there are by actual count 20,823 names, which by using the multiple of 2 1-2, (which is in most cities 2 3-4) shows a population of 52,057, an increase of 1, 525 over last year. The United States census to be taken this month will, probably, show a much less population due to the superficial manner in which the government census is usually taken and to the fact that the numerators are not permitted to include the name of any person working and boarding within the limits of the city and having families residing elsewhere. To illustrate take railway employes who work in Ft Wayne, spend most of their time in Fort Wayne but who have families living just outside the city or at the terminus of their division. Such persons will not be included in the United States enumeration of Fort Wayne. It should be understood that the canvass for the Fort Wayne Directory is not confined to the corporate limits of the city but embraces all suburbs adjacent to the city as well as householders of Spy Run, which is to all intents and purposes a part of Fort Wayne. In population, however, numbers are not of as much account as quality. There is no "submerged tenth" in Fort Wayne. Its pauperism is the smallest of any city of its size in the country.

This is because it has nothing to attract the pauperism of other countries, as have the larger cities. Furthermore it is safe to say that in no other city of the size of Fort Wayne do so many people own or have an interest in the houses in which they live.

Each issue of the Directory increases the obligation of the publishers to the people of Fort Wayne for their liberal patronage and for their courtesy to those who represent them in the preparation of the work.

For the patronage and co-operation of years the publishers extend their sincere thanks.

JOHN O. COPELAND, Consulting Accountant

ADVANTAGES OF OUR SYSTEM

ERPETUAL
Dispenses with the annual transfer of ledgers. Once opened no further extra labor of the bookkeeper is required.

LL ITEMS OF AN ACCOUNT
Are kept together, no matter what length of time the account covers or how active it may be.

IVE ACCOUNTS ONLY
Are retained in the Current Ledger. All filled leaves and closed accounts are filed in Transfer Ledger.

CK REFERENCE
The index being distributed through the book admits of locating the accounts much more rapidly. No separate index necessary.

AVES TIME POSTING AND BALANCING
As only open accounts are dealt with, and these are all properly arranged and their position is always the same.

RRANGEMENT OF ACCOUNTS
Can be had as to locality, by states or salesman's territory, in alphabetical order, or as to time of opening, or activity.

O SPACING NECESSARY
Each account is given a separate leaf. Active accounts can therefore have unlimited space.

ESS LIABILITY FOR ERROR
Accounts are more surely located and with one account on each leaf the proper space is readily found.

XPANSIVE
It admits of insertion of new accounts from time to time in proper place without disturbing any other.

ASILY HANDLED
As both sides of the leaf are used for each account, a much smaller sized book can be used.

ACILITY
One or a dozen persons can work on the books at one time in taking off statements or posting or balancing.

ONVENIENCE
Of having a customer's account all together, saving time of bookkeeper looking through a lot of old ledgers.

IMPLICITY
A trial balance is more readily taken off. Tabulation or abstract is simplified and systematized.

DAPTABILITY
Any business of any size, or any sudden change in activity, as well as any arrangement necessary, can be accommodated.

CONOMY
In every case it costs far less in the long run—less in material—less in time less in labor.

Over 5,000 Bookkeepers now Using our Ledgers, Testify to these Points of Superiority.
